Pluriverse: New and Selected Poems charts the life-work of the celebrated poet, Ernesto Cardenal—“one of the world’s major poets” (Choice) and “the preeminent poet of Central America today” (Library Journal). Follow Cardenal’s poetic development across six decades, from the early exteriorismo poems and romantic epi-grams of the early 1950s, to the increasingly spiritually and politically engaged verse he wrote as priest and activist—including his classic revolutionary documentary poem “Zero Hour”—to the shorter victory and ecology poems and elegies to fallen Sandinistas, to the cosmic-mystical-scientific dimensions of his later work. “Here they are—,” editor Jonathan Cohen writes in his Introduction, “to gladden your heart and enrich your soul.”

Ernesto Cardenal was born in 1925 in Granada, Nicaragua. Revolutionary activist, disciple of Thomas Merton, Roman Catholic priest, founder of the contemplative commune Our Lady of Solentiname, ambassador for the Sandinistas, Minister of Culture in post-Somoza Nicaragua, and co-founder of the international cultural center House of Three Worlds, Cardenal, on his eightieth birthday, was given the nation’s highest cultural honor, the Order of Rubén Darío, by President Enrique Bolaños in 2005. Jonathan Cohen has been translating Cardenal since 1970. He is the author of the translations of his With Walker in Nicaragua and Other Early Poems (1949–1954) and From Nicaragua, With Love: Poems (1979–1986), winner of the Robert Payne Award of the Translation Center at Columbia University.
